PENNIES FOR CHARITY

WHERE YOUR MONEY GOES

TELEMARKETING BY PROFESSIONAL FUND RAISERS

NEW YORK STATE DEPARTMENT OF LAW
CHARITIES BUREAU

ELIOT SPITZER
ATTORNEY GENERAL
December 2005
PENNIES FOR CHARITY - 2005

Americans are extraordinarily generous. It is estimated that this year they will donate over $240 billion to charity. Those contributions support our schools, hospitals, and cultural institutions, medical research, assistance to the poor and so much more. In the past year we have seen an extraordinary outpouring of generosity in response to the tsunami in South Asia, the Gulf Coast hurricanes and the earthquake in Pakistan. Contributors rightly expect - and deserve - assurance that their donations will be used to benefit the people and the programs served by the charities to which they donate their hard-earned dollars. In this time of so many accounting and governance scandals, there is heightened concern about how funds are managed in both the for-profit and nonprofit sectors.

_Pennies for Charity_, New York Attorney General Eliot Spitzer’s annual report of telemarketing campaigns in New York, is prepared to show members of the public how much of the money they contribute in response to telemarketers’ solicitation actually supports charitable programs. _Pennies for Charity_ may be used by contributors to decide which charities they wish to support. In addition, charitable organizations may consult this report -- before, during or after engaging professional fundraisers -- to evaluate the fundraisers performance. This year’s report is based on financial reports filed by professional fundraisers for campaigns conducted during 2004.

FINDINGS

A total of $170.6 million was raised on behalf of 440 charities in 2004 by the 555 telemarketing campaigns covered in this report. The $170.6 million includes funds raised in New York and other states during telemarketing campaigns conducted on behalf of charitable organizations registered to solicit contributions in New York. Charities retained $63.5 million, or 37.24 percent, of the funds raised by telemarketers registered to solicit contributions in New
In 2003, $187.4 million was raised via 592 telemarketing campaigns, with $63.1 million, or 33.67 percent, retained by the charitable organizations.

While some of the charities received more, many received much less than 37.24 percent, and some received nothing at all. The remainder - $107.1 million - was paid to the fundraisers for fees and/or used to cover the costs of conducting the campaigns.

The following table shows the distribution of the funds raised in the 555 telemarketing campaigns of 2004, arranged according to percentage of funds retained by charity.

Please Note -

* In 23 telemarketing campaigns, the campaign apparently resulted in a loss to the charity. This can occur when the fundraising contract does not guarantee the charity a specific dollar amount or specific percentage of the gross receipts or when the contract does not hold the charity harmless for expenses/fees that exceed the gross amount contributed.

1 In 2003, a total of $187.4 million was raised via 592 telemarketing campaigns, with $63.1 million, or 33.67 percent, retained by the charitable organizations.
HOW THIS REPORT WAS PREPARED

The data in this report was obtained from financial reports filed with the Attorney General’s Charities Bureau by professional fundraisers that conducted telemarketing campaigns on behalf of charitable organizations during 2004. The filings are either final reports submitted after completion of a telemarketing campaign or interim reports submitted annually for campaigns conducted for a period longer than one year. The filed reports are signed by both the professional fundraiser and the contracting charitable organization. All of the charities listed in the report conducted telemarketing fundraising campaigns in New York State. The figures reported reflect the total amount of money solicited and are not limited to New Yorkers’ contributions.

The report consists of seven tables. Table 1 lists the charitable organizations in alphabetical order, the professional fundraisers that conducted each organization’s telemarketing campaign, the geographical location of each soliciting charity, the total amount raised in each campaign, the amount each charity retained, the amount of uncollected pledges and the percentage of the total raised that each charity retained.

Table 2 contains the same information as Table 1, with the professional fundraisers listed first, in alphabetical order. Table 3 contains the same information as Tables 1 and 2, arranged in

2 Registration of professional fundraisers is required by Article 7-A of New York State’s Executive Law. Registration should not be construed as approval and/or endorsement by the Attorney General of any professional fundraiser or the accuracy and/or completeness of the information contained in any financial report filed with the Charities Bureau.

3 Data from interim reports is in italics. Readers should be aware that the final figures and ratios may change when a campaign has been completed and all income and expenses are reported.

4 Information for an additional 5 telemarketing campaigns conducted during 2004 had not been submitted prior to the date of publication of this report.
descending order by the percentage of the total amount raised that was retained by the charitable organizations. Table 4 contains the same information presented in the other tables, arranged according to geographical location of the charitable organizations.\(^5\)

Table 5, a new table added this year, reports the total amount raised by each of the 440 charities for all telemarketing campaigns conducted in 2004. Table 5 presents, in descending order, the amount retained by each charity as a percentage of the total amount raised.

Table 6 includes the name of each of 94 professional fundraisers and information concerning the total amount raised by each and the total amount that was retained by the client charities of each. Table 6 presents the percentage amount retained by charity in descending order starting with the fundraiser whose clients retained the largest percentage of funds.

Table 7 contains contact information for the professional fundraisers. Table 8 contains information concerning charitable organizations that appear in this report but have failed to file timely or complete annual reports for at least one fiscal year prior to 2004 and, therefore, are no longer registered to solicit contributions from New Yorkers.\(^6\)

Pledges that have not yet been paid to a charity are not reported as part of the total amount raised, but are reported in a separate column in each table.\(^7\) In addition, contributions other than money are not included in this report.

\(^5\) The areas included in each of the eight geographical areas are described below the graph labeled Locations Of Charities Conducting 2004 Telemarketing Campaigns.

\(^6\) Section 172.5 of the Executive Law provides that a charity’s registration is cancelled if it fails to file timely its annual financial report.

\(^7\) An uncollected pledge is a promised contribution that the charity has not received by the date of filing of a professional fundraiser’s financial report with the Charities Bureau. The charity may never receive uncollected pledges. In some telemarketing campaigns, a donor may agree to pay a specified dollar amount over a period of months or even years. Reports of such campaigns will often show a large amount in the “Uncollected Pledges” column and small amounts in the “Net To Charity” and “% To Charity” columns. In each table, a $0.00 in the Uncollected Pledges column indicates that there were no uncollected pledges reported on the respective financial report or that there were no uncollected outstanding pledges by the date on which the fundraiser filed the report.
CAVEATS

In reviewing the data in this report, the reader should keep in mind several factors that may affect fundraising costs. Identifying new donors may be more time consuming and thus more expensive than contacting prior contributors. An organization may conduct a telemarketing campaign simply to test-market new fundraising ideas without any certainty that its campaign will prove efficient and productive. An organization may also achieve goals other than raising funds - such as public education or recruitment of volunteers - at the same time that it is conducting a fundraising campaign. These and perhaps other benefits will not necessarily be reflected in the revenue received by the charity. A newly created charity or one advocating new programs or new ideas may experience greater fundraising costs without any certainty that its campaign will prove cost effective.

The reader should also keep in mind that amounts raised in a particular telemarketing campaign may represent only a small part of a charity’s fundraising activity and, therefore, may not provide donors with a complete picture of a charity’s overall fundraising. Donors are urged to review the entire annual financial report of a charity when considering whether to make a contribution and should not rely solely on this report when making such decisions.
ADDITIONAL AVAILABLE INFORMATION

For any registered charity, the annual report may be obtained from the organization or the Charities Bureau. Registration status information on charities may be accessed on Attorney General Spitzer’s Internet site - www.oag.state.ny.us/charities/search.html - which contains links to annual reports filed by these charities with the IRS. Potential contributors should review those reports and information received directly from charitable organizations before making a decision as to where to donate their hard-earned dollars.

Individuals considering making a contribution via a telemarketing appeal should ask the caller if he/she is employed by a professional fundraiser and is being paid to solicit contributions. The law requires that telemarketers disclose this information. Also, the telemarketer should be asked:

- What programs are conducted by the charity?
- How much of the charity’s money will be used for charitable programs?
- How much does the telemarketer guarantee to the charity?

Contributors should also remember that they always have the option of contributing directly to a charity.

Potential contributors should review Attorney General Spitzer’s pamphlet, Tips on Charitable Giving - What You Should Know, which is also available on the Attorney General’s Internet site at www.oag.state.ny.us/charities/chargive.pdf.

In addition to studying this report, representatives of charitable organizations that are contemplating engaging a telemarketer or other fundraising are urged to read Attorney General Spitzer’s pamphlet, Tips on Charitable Giving - What You Should Know.

The numerous natural disasters of the past year present an enormous challenge to all of us. Charities and the generous people who contribute to their causes have been called on to respond to new and expanding needs. We hope that this report will assist contributors and charities in deciding how best to carry out this vital mission.
